DETAILED ACTION

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-41, drawn to a battery separator made of distinct materials, classified in class 429, subclass 144.
 - II. Claim 42, drawn to a valve-regulated lead-acid battery having specific components, classified in class 429, subclass 53.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions II and I are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the battery does not required the particular separator, that is, a working lead-acid battery comprising a separator having only a single layer or a separator made from a different material can be made to be fully operational. The subcombination has separate utility such as providing a degree of separation between components having different polarity.
3. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.
4. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for one group is not required for other group, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Art Unit: 1745

In addition, further restriction is required. Thus, applicant must elect one of the groups above. However, if Group I is finally elected, applicant must also elect one of the species below as well.

5. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention, the following species have been identified:

Species 1: embodiment wherein the fibrous layer is made of glass fibers;

Species 2: embodiment wherein the fibrous layer consists of polymeric fibers;

Species 3: embodiment wherein the fibrous layer comprises a mixture of glass fibers and polymeric fibers;

Species 4: embodiment wherein the support layer consists of a polymer;

Species 5: embodiment wherein the support layer consists of a glass fiber fabric;

Species 6: embodiment wherein the support layer consist of a polymer fiber fabric;

Species 7: embodiment wherein the support layer consists of a polymer fiber fleece layer;

Species 8: embodiment wherein the support layer consists of a fleece layer containing polymer fibers and glass fibers;

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, it appears that claim 1 is only generic, further clarification is required.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

6. A telephone call was made to Kevin S. Lemack on 04/29/03 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
